

Leah Gray

FCAPA, PPSA, SPSA, EFIAP

Photography is the culmination of planning, technique, vision, composition, and perception, brought together in one instant - with a little (or more) editing.
- Leah Gray

Leah Gray, FCAPA, PPSA, EFIAP, SPSA, is a distinguished judge certified by the Canadian Association for Photographic Art (CAPA). Her expertise in photography has also led her to serve as a judge for the Photographic Society of America, reflecting her deep involvement and recognition in the photographic community.

Leah Gray has received over 1,000 acceptances for her images in international photography exhibitions. Her impressive record includes winning 21 gold medals and 5 Best in Show awards. Notably, in 2018, Leah earned a gold medal and the Best-in-Show distinction at the year-end PSA Nature and Wildlife division, surpassing all other gold medal winners internationally that year. Additionally, she has had two portfolios accepted into the PSA, earning bronze and silver distinctions. She has taken part in several curated print exhibitions including a solo show.

Leah's photographic interests are diverse, encompassing wildlife, landscape, sports, travel, macro, tabletop, studio, and creative photography. This wide range of interests demonstrates her versatility and passion for capturing different aspects of the world through her lens.

Beyond her achievements as a photographer, Leah Gray actively shares her knowledge and experience with others. She regularly delivers lectures and presentations on various aspects of photography. In partnership with Steve Smith, she teaches photography locally on Vancouver Island. Her website, Spirithills.ca, serves as a platform for her work and educational activities.

Contact:

- Web: <https://spirithills.ca>
- FB: <https://www.facebook.com/spirithills.ca>;
- Instagram: <https://www.instagram.com/spirithills.ca/>
- Flickr: <https://www.flickr.com/photos/spirithills/>

Leah Gray, FCAPA, PPSA, SPSA, EFIAP